

Such moments of life and Grace in the life of man can be experienced in times such as Advent or Christmas or Lent or Easter or Pentecost. Such moments of inspiration are always helpful to the sincere soul in its effort to surrender to the Divine Order. The natural order was not intended to rule God's world, and it most certainly was not intended to become the rule in God's Church. The natural order must give place to the supernatural order. Nothing is of profit to the salvation of man if it is not integrated with the sacramental and supernatural life. Profane life will never attain the inner kingdom of God which means life eternal.
