St. Joseph the Worker

May 1, 2003 AD

Most Holy Father, St. Joseph, protect us as you did the most Holy Family when you led them on that dangerous journey into Egypt. Stand beside us, lead us, pray for us, and teach us the virtue of Silence - that holy virtue in you which permitted you to hear the Voice of God each and every time He spoke to you. Teach us also, O St. Joseph, to obey the Voice of God as promptly as you did.

The human race is facing the greatest crisis in its history, because it has forced religion into the greatest crisis in its history. The only thing that can save the world from complete moral collapse is a complete spiritual revolution. Today it is popular to speak of "innovation," of "revolution," on all levels. If we continue to stress the irrelevance of any religious practice, and that the sacred character of the worship of a DIVINE GOD is insignificant and superficial, sooner or later whatever life of Faith that still remains in us, deprived of vital nourishment, will die. Christianity, by its very nature, demands revolution. But where is such a revolution to take place? ONLY in the heart of man can such a revolution take place!
